UPDATE ON FLOOD RESPONSE EFFORTS

Dear Friends,

In my discussions and visits with those hit hardest by the pervasive flooding this past summer, I've been given a fresh reminder of what makes Wisconsin great: the people of this State continue to demonstrate their compassion and determination to support each other in times of need. I have worked hard to connect those hit hardest from this summer's storms and flooding with the appropriate resources that have been made available. While the September 15 deadline to apply for federal disaster assistance has passed, below you will find a helpful guide for those seeking additional information on this issue.

On June 13, 2008, Paul Ryan met with state and local officials to discuss the impact of the floods on the Mukwonago Dam.

Sincerely,

Paul Ryan
Serving Wisconsin's 1st District
